MEDIA RELEASE

NEW BENBOW ENVIRONMENTAL OFFICE OPENS IN WOLLONGONG

26 July 2007

Benbow Environmental, a highly regarded environmental engineering firm, have announced the opening of a new office in Wollongong.

The new office located at Suite C9, 237 Berkeley Road is suitably located within the Unanderra Industrial Estate, only a short distance from key industrial clients.

Principal Consultant and founder of the business Richard Benbow said, "We are excited about opening our new office. This means improved service delivery to our clients not just in the Illawarra region, but also those in Southern NSW right down to the border."

"With the increasing regulatory environment and planned growth in the Illawarra and Southern Highlands region, the opening of the Wollongong office couldn't be more timely."

About Benbow Environmental

Benbow Environmental has a proud history working with clients in agriculture, industry and commerce. With over 20 years experience the company continues to expand and pursue new opportunities.

Originally started in the 1980s as Dick Benbow & Associates (DBA), the company has consistently responded to the needs of the market and their clients including setting up the complimentary businesses of Environmental Audits of Australia (EAA) and Australian Occupational Hygiene Services (AOHS). In 2006 the Benbow Group of companies undertook a strategic review and realigned into one business. Trading as Benbow Environmental the company continues to provide its traditionally diverse range of environmental and occupational services to agriculture, industry and commerce.

Key specialisations include environmental & architectural noise, environmental management & auditing, environmental assessments for development applications (EIS reports), air quality, odour assessments, occupational hygiene & noise, cleaner production & sustainability, and dangerous goods and chemical management.
